Simpson a Great Youngster.

The junior relay race between the Country School for Boys, of Baltimore, and Woodberry Forest, was a feature cause of the really remarkable running of E. R. Simpson, a diminutive school team, who made up twenty yards more, and abbreviated stripling on the Country of lost ground and won the race. He will be a great runner some day if he Mt doesn't overdo the thing while he is too young.

Defeat overtook the Catholic University in its relay match with St. John's McG. S. College, of Annapolis. The defeat was Marst. double, for not only were the Catholics beaten in a desperate struggle, but it was found that B. Hetfield, of their team, was the man who competed at Richmond on January 26 under the name of Canale. This juggling with proper names is strictly against all the amateur rules and was a serious break on th part of the man and his manager, and will probably lead to other complica tions. It was a pity, for the Catholics have made many friends by their gameness and willingness to run against any legitimate opponent that might be sug-
